Chiefly Speaking ...

Chattahoochee Hills Fire, EMS and Emergency Management is growing and really flexing its muscles lately.

Pat McCarragher (right) has been promoted to Battalion Chief to oversee daily operations, plan review and inspections. Pat has been serving our City one way or another since the beginning. Pat is a “stress reliever” ... Congratulations Pat!

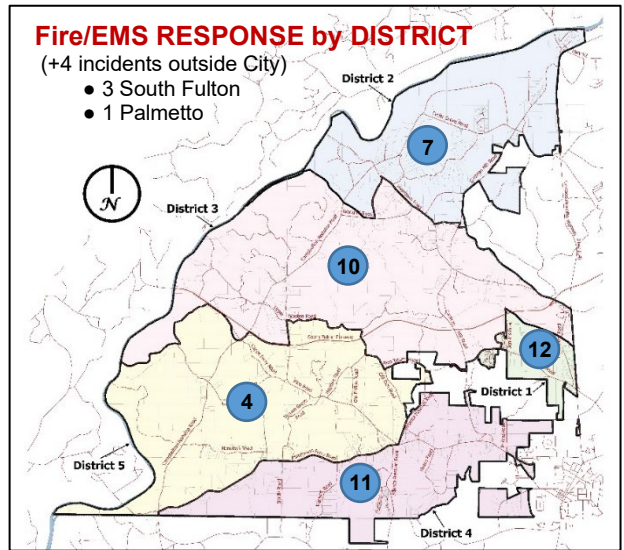

Automatic aid requests from adjacent cities now requires more from our personnel. Call volume and type (frequency) within the City is increasing as residential and commercial development grows. More interest in our parks, especially Cochran Mill Park, is forcing regular demand for search/rescue operations there. Large-scale events and film/movie production in the City dictates more involvement to understand risks and improve safety.

We are busy, there’s no doubt, but we always have time for questions and to hear advice. Thank you for your support.

Gregory C. Brett

EMERGENCY MANAGEMENT

Heat can take a toll on the human body and on pets. Consider the following for both ...

- Rest indoors or provide shaded areas when heat is highest. Don't forget the “heat index” and how the body reacts to both temperature and humidity.

COVID:

The Delta variant now accounts for 99% of infections in Fulton and Georgia. Vaccination is an excellent safeguard ... it's FREE Tues.-Fri. at Palmetto Community Center.
